Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 14 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry with spells of sunshine.

Today:
Sunny spells through the morning, with any rain in the east quickly clearing. Remaining largely dry into the afternoon with sunny spells becoming increasingly widespread. Feeling pleasantly warm in the sunshine, with light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Sunny spells lasting into the evening and staying dry. Light winds and clear spells through the night, bringing the risk of some fog patches. A cooler night rurally. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Wednesday:
A dry start with sunny spells through the morning. Into the afternoon spells of sunshine continuing with perhaps the odd isolated shower. Turning cloudier in the west later. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Sunny spells and scattered afternoon showers on Thursday. Cloudier on Friday with a spell of rain. Variable cloud amounts and perhaps a few showers on Saturday. Remaining mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.